Bundeswehr purchases SINA components as part of its HaFIS programme

[Essen, Germany, 25 October 2018] The German Federal Office of Bundeswehr Equipment, Information Technology and In-Service Support (BAAINBw) has commissioned secunet to supply several hundred SINA components. The ordered products will be used for the regeneration (renewal) of crypto-components in the context of the HaFIS programme which is harmonising the Bundeswehr (German armed forces) management information systems.

The Bundeswehr's management information systems support and safeguard the preparation, management and evaluation of national and multinational deployments. HaFIS is a comprehensive programme which the Bundeswehr is implementing in order to harmonise and update their military management information systems.

The products to be supplied include the SINA L3 Box H, which is used as a virtual private network gateway on a cross-sectional basis in the Bundeswehr's high security systems and networks; and the multi-session-enabled SINA Workstation H. SINA H systems form the IP crypto backbone of the Bundeswehr, and make it possible to process, transfer and store data classified up to and including GEHEIM / NATO SECRET / SECRET UE/EU SECRET. The components will be delivered before the end of the current financial year.
